The DS-673SS is a Class III Approved swab and organ scale. It has an IP68 rating, making it ideal for even the harshest of environments.

A tough, dependable scale

The DS-673SS is a durable, hard wearing weighing scale built for all conditions. An IP68 rating means that this scale is fully waterproof, making it suitable for wet and humid environments, and where regular washing down is required to keep it hygienic.

This scale can be found across the country in operating theatres and laboratories, for weighing swabs and organs.

A scoop is available as an optional extra to help with weighing.

Quick and easy to use

With a rechargeable battery, the DS-673SS can be used absolutely anywhere regardless of where the nearest plug socket is. An AC adaptor is provided for charging the battery and for operation direct from the mains. With a fully charged battery the scale provides 40 hours of continuous use.

This scale has a large LED display making the weight reading highly visible even in challenging conditions. To make sure you have accurate readings each and every time the scale is used there is a Tare mode. This enables you to deduct the weight of a container or beaker from the final weight.

Built to last

The Marsden DS-673SS is robustly built and is designed to stand the test of time. This scale is backed by a full two-year warranty and with a maintenance contract, can be kept in full working order for years to come.
